REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD OF THE TOWN OF DUBLIN,

FROM MARCH 10, 1903 TO MARCH 8, 1904.

The town at its annual meeting in March, 1903, appropriated for schools	$1700 00
Literary fund for the year	37 76
Dog tax, unexpended April 1	120 76
For text books and supplies	100 00
For a Superintendent, $100, used	90 00

Thirty-six weeks of school have been provided for all the scholars of the Primary and Grammar grades.

In schoolhouse No. 4 no school was opened during the spring and fall terms. A school has been held there during the winter.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The High school continued thirteen weeks during the spring or third term of the school year. Three scholars graduated from the second year's course of study. Only one scholar graduated from the Grammar grade and that scholar left town. Therefore at the first of September the number of scholars in town who would attend a first or second year's course of High school studies was so small that the Board did not think it best to open the school again till there were more scholars to attend.

Reviewing the year's work of the High school we feel that we were fortunate in securing the services of Miss Ellis as teacher. Her influence on her scholars was elevating and inspired them with a laudable ambition to do their best. The scholars, too, are deserving of much credit. They did good work in their studies and their conduct was commendable both in and out of the schoolroom.

TEXT BOOKS.

During the year we have introduced: First Steps in the History of our Country by Morey, an Elementary History of the United States by Thomas, The Progressive Arithmetic, Books I, II, III, by Nichols, Hydes' Two Book Course in English—a credit of $12.67 was allowed for the old books exchanged for these; 154 copies of supplementary readers, by different authors, have been provided for the schools at an expense of $41.21, to be paid for next April.

SUPERINTENDENT.

We are asked what good does a superintendent do. It is his business to grade the schools and see that the scholars are in their proper classes and studying the right books. Frequent tests and examination of the pupils enables him to advance them as fast as they are prepared to go and no faster.

The most serious evil our teachers have had to contend with in the past is, that unwise and unreasonable parents have tried to dictate what studies their children should take in school; how fast they should advance; what classes they should be in and how they should be governed. To counteract this evil is well worth the cost of a superintendent. The superintendent advises in regard to the introduction of text books. He helps the teachers in their work and methods of instruction. He can aid the teachers in the control of their schools, and the school board in securing good teachers. He makes a study of the needs of each school and seeks the remedy. He has no other occupation and devotes his whole time to improving the schools.

Four towns comprise our Supervisory District: Winchester pays $500 this year, Troy $260, Fitzwilliam $260, Dublin $180. One half the expense is made up to the towns by the state. The justification of this is that supervision increases the value of the schools and benefits the whole state.

A COURSE OF STUDY.

There is need of a printed course of study for our Dublin schools. We have been using the Marlboro course introduced by Dr. McCollister. We are short of copies and there are none on hand to supply the deficiency. Dublin should have a course of its own for all its school grades. We trust the schoolboard and superintendent will supply this need the coming year.

PENMANSHIP.

A serious fault in our schools is poor penmanship. We have not as many scholars in proportion to numbers who write a neat, plain hand and good business forms, as we had some years ago. The average teacher is not trained to teach writing and devotes too little time to it. Frequently this short period does not receive her undivided attention.

Our scholars need the drill and training of an enthusiastic expert in this branch. A good teacher of penmanship uses the blackboard much and sees to it that the pupils follow minutely the instructions given. Many a young man or woman fails to secure a good business position because their English is bad and writing poor.

SCHOOL MONEY.

The amount of money required by law to be raised by tax for support of schools the coming year is			$1920 00
Literary fund	estimated		40 00
Unexpended dog tax April 1, 1904	"		125 00
Income of school funds	"		350 00
Balance unexpended last year about			200 00
			<hr/> $2635 00

Deducting expense of a superintendent, Text books and supplies, and five per cent. for repairs and there will still be an excess of over $600 for general school purposes, more than was expended last year.

It is the unanimous opinion of the Board that the wisest and best way to expend such an amount of school money is in uniting in a consolidated, graded school which shall, by employing the best teachers obtainable, furnishing the best equipment and providing suitable conveyance for those living beyond a reasonable distance, give to the scholars of Dublin school privileges corresponding with the wealth of the town.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES ALLISON, THOMAS S. LYNCH, MARY K. GOWING,	} School Board.

TO THE SCHOOL BOARD OF DUBLIN, GENTLEMEN:--I have the honor to submit my report as Supervisor of Schools.

Without raising a dollar more than the bare legal requirement, there will the coming year be available for school purposes over six hundred dollars more than was expended this year. Every parent in Dublin has both a legal and a moral right to demand that the schools be as good as these large resources can make them.

With a poor equipment a good course of study cannot be followed and the best methods cannot be applied. We are much better off than a year ago, and a liberal appropriation this year would go far toward giving us the equipment needed for first-class work.

A poor teacher is dear at any figure. A good teacher is a jewel without price. Where skill, intelligence and character are demanded cheap labor does not pay. The most poverty-stricken town can better afford a good teacher than a poor one. A rich town should seek the best.

Although our present teaching force averages well and is doing good work, let us not be too complacent. Teachers do not stay long in Dublin. Not one of the present number has been with us over three terms. When a vacancy occurs again, are we to pay a sum that does not entitle us to a good teacher and then trust to luck that we may get one? Even if we could be so fortunate as to find excellent teachers as fast as they were needed it would not be well. One school in town has had twenty-three different teachers within fifteen years. Only one of them has stayed so long as five terms. Even if all were good, it is obvious that such constant change would demoralize any school.

Dublin has the means to get and then to keep good teachers. When one is needed the town is in the position to select from the very best graduates of the Normal schools or take from some poorer town a teacher who has proved her worth. If ordinary business prudence is shown, there is little danger in engaging one of this class and the transaction need not be looked upon as a lottery. When, however, scanty funds compel resource to the bargain counter the most carefully made purchase is likely to prove a disappointment. In the hands of an inefficient teacher the best text books and methods are like edged tools in the hands of a child. A superintendent can do little for such a teacher. As general conditions improve, as higher standards are set, her weakness becomes the more apparent. The true teacher must be a skillful, intelligent, resourceful workman. Such a laborer is worthy of his hire.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) HENRY B. STEARNS.
